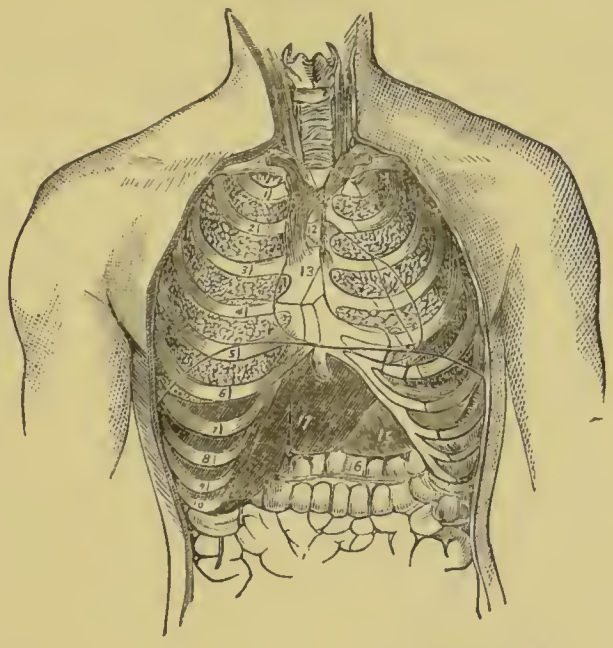
FRONT VIEW OF THE THORAX.

The thorax is bounded in front by the sternum, the six upper costal cartilages, the ribs, and intercostal muscles; at the sides, by the ribs and intercostal muscles; and behind, by the same structures and the dorsal portion of the vertebral column.

FIG. 8.



1. } True, or sternum ribs.
2. }
3. }
4. }
5. }
6. }
7. }
8. } Three false, or short ribs.
9. }
10. } Two floating ribs.

11. Superior cava.
12. Aorta.
13. Right auricle.
15. Stomach.
16. Transverse colon.
17. Liver.

The thorax is a conical framework, formed partly of bones, and partly of the soft tissues by which they